It is with immeasurable pleasure that the UMJCA Talmud Torah Program welcomes Rabbi Barak Levy as our newly appointed director of religious guidance and curriculum. We are excited to learn, grow and seek guidance from Rabbi Levy as he strengthens our already very successful program.

Rabbi Levy brings with him over 2 decades of teaching experience, both in and out of the classroom. Rabbi Levy has taught MANY of our youth and adults since he and his family moved to Great Neck almost 10 years ago and has become a pillar in the Great Neck community.

Rabbi Levy is the current Rabbi at The Cherry Lane Minyan, the director of religious guidance and a Judaic studies teacher at NSHAHS.

As a Sephardic Jew and very involved in the Persian culture, Rabbi Levy is educated to the traditions and customs of our community. Rabbi Levy will be working closely with our Rabbis and Religious Council and will implement our customs within the curriculum to assure that our youth will not only get the best Hebrew and Judaic education but will also be taught based on the way our community has been practicing our Minhagim for generations.

Rabbi Levy will be working side-by-side with our faculty and students to assure that each student receives the personal care and attention needed to help them excel in their studies. With his guidance and direction, the faculty as well as the parents will be able to pave the path to maturity and Jewish life.

Rabbi Levy plans to adjust the curriculum in a way that will maintain a flow throughout the grades so that our students will be well-versed and confident with the material learned. Our projection is that upon completion of our program, our youth will have the fundamentals and details needed to flourish in our community.

We look forward to many years of education, guidance, and achievement together with Rabbi Levy. We feel privileged to have Rabbi Levy as part of our Talmud Torah Program.
